NO AGREEMENT ON MINE WAGE OFFER

EXPECT SETTLEMENT NO NEW FUEL BAN IN CITY OF SCALE DISPUTE

Acting President Lewis of Mine Workers Confident of Favorable Decision on Government's Proposal of 14 Per Cent Increase--- Urges Platform of Economy No Report on Progress of Deliberations.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 .- "The situation looks better." This was the comment on the coal situation made at the white house. Attorney General Palmer was in telephonic communication with the white house during the night and he repeated his predictions that the strike will be settled.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 10.-The conference of officials of the United Mine Workers of America, in session here to consider the government's offer of a 14 per cent wage increase as a basis of settling the coal miners' strike, adjourned at 12:10 p. m. without reaching an agreement

They will meet again at 1:30 this afternoon. Acting President John L. Lewis, of the miners, on leaving conference room in the Odd Fellows' building said: "We have the question under consideration and I think we will be able to reach an agreement today."

Lewis refused to make any further comment on the progress being made. Other delegates to the conference when asked as to the prospects of tice in our foreign relations and of the miners' accepting the increase and ending the strike, referred newspaper correspondents to Mr. Lewis. "It is just as Mr. Lewis said-we hope to reach an agreement before night," said one of the delegates.

Fight Made By Radicals

Mine Workers, are making a "sincere, whole-hearted" effort to obtain adoption of the president's proposition, declared a union official in close touch with the situation.

This official asserted that Lewis and Green have the backing of the "older heads" among the miners' leaders and that they undoubtedly have the ascendancy over the more radical element, said to be led by Frank Farrington, of Illinois, and Alex Howet of Kansas. That Lewis and Green undoubtedly vill emerge victorious from their clash with the radical leaders is unquestioned, it was declared. The Indiana miners at least are pledged to back their executive, it was indicated as the conference assembled.

The 14 per cent wage increase offered by the president is no inducment toward acceptance, it was pointed out at miners' headquarters. It is the president's promise of a fair, square deal that appeals to the men, it was said. tive weakness' Continued on Page Two.

The game was to have been played at Central park, Wellsville, Saturday afternoon, December 13, and was tentatively scheduled up until Wednesday, when Manager Fogo informed the East Liverpool team's management that owing to the fact that the Antlers had not played for several Brick company, was removed to his condition for the game. Weather conditions, too, were partly responsible for the calling off of the game.

In spite of the fact that the Antlers lost more gar, s this season than they have won, the season was considered fairly successful. The Antlers lost to the Toronto Tigers in the opening contest of the season, 7-0. Enally and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using the well-known old recipe for making cough syrup at home. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

24 hours or less. Get 21/2 ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family at long time.

BUY MONEY.

Since this is a period of frenzied spending, why not buy some money along with other things? There are great bargains in the stated that she used Mrs. Curran as money market.

You can buy lately, for about $3.80, a British pound which ordinarily is worth $4.86. French francs are marked down to 10 tents or less, from their normal value of nearly 20 cents. You can get Italian lire, normally about the same as francs, for 8 cents. | ters. German marks, formerly equal to an American quarter, are down to 2 or 3 cents.

You will be taking a chance, to be sure. This foreign currency may go still lower, if there is a real financial collapse abroad. On mrs. Curran's husband takes down the other hand, it may go back to par within a few years.

If you want a perfectly sure thing along this line, buy American money. Do a little plunging in dollar "futures." Take whatever money you have lying around loose and put it into government bonds-which are absurdly cheap just now-or else put it in the bank. The bonds will go above par before long. The money n the bank will not go above par; you will get back exactly the same number of dollars you put in, plus the interest; but-

If you leave those dollars either in the bank or in the bonds for two or three or four years, you will be surprised at what you trade them for when you finally draw them out. They won't bay much now; but prices are at their peak, and are certain to go down as the United States pays its war debt and speeds up production once more. For the cheap dollars you invested, you will ret back dollars of far more value.

IMPORTED LUXURIES.

In September, 1918, the duty collected in the New York custom house on dressed furs, was $8,030. In September, 1919, the duty collected on dressed furs was $517,532. In September of last year Imported beads paid a duty of $145,544; in September of this year, $952,630. For ostrich feathers the figures are—last September, $77,373; this September, $410,801. For pearls—last September, Wortz has lived a life teeming with $123,547; this September, $654,312. For cut diamonds—last September, $494,221; this September, $6,644,774. Silk veilings—last September, $82,398; this September, $372,048. So it goes, through a long list of articles classed as "luxuries."

Some of these increases represent a natural response to a demand which foreign dealers could not supply last year on account and Mr. Lewis has just turned 30. Ten of the war. But most of it is due to the sudden craze for luxuries other successful novels, according to in this country. The figures would be still more impressive if they were obtainable for October and November. The demand has been growing right along, in spite of high prices, industrial troubles and everything else.

It may be argued that people with money have a right to spend they call rose point. It is all full of it for whatever they like. Perhaps they have. Still, the situation today is at least unfortunate. Increased imports are highly collar. Still I saw a fur coat pointed desirable; but the imports most needed are standard commodities out to me in the Majestic foyer that to supplement our own domestic store—not costly things that the nation could easily do without. And indirectly all the expenditure for luxuries is bad in many ways. Weak souls everywhere are tempted beyond their means. It sets false standards of life, false a scrappy lot. They seem to resent standards of prices, false standards of goods.

When people are so ready to pay big money for unnecessary cars out of line, block them and if things, what wonder is it that prices on ordinary commodities are necessary rip off a mud guard. I saw jacked up? Foolish purchasers come to prefer the flimsy or mere- break into the heavy evening traffic ly elegant to the substantial, and manufacturers are no longer giv- on Sixth Avenue near Firty Second en the proper incentive to produce honest goods.

NEW YORK TIPS.

A man from the West complains, in a letter to a New York nored him. Finally there was a chance paper, that it cost him $4 in tips and excess charges merely to "arrive" in the metropolis. He includes in his itemized list tips off the mud guard and smashing a Pullman porter, the station porter, the taxi-driver, the hotel front light. Then he turned up a doorman, captain, bellhop, porter, waiter, headwaiter, hat girl, side street, stuck his head out the manicure girl, barber shop porter and barber.

It does not seem to occur to this complainant that the only for" them, and even insist on paying them. Would this sojourner not have got all the services he indicates, just the same, if he had kept three-fourths of that $4 in his own pocket?

There is a good deal in the contention of the New York World that it is such visitors who establish and maintain the extortionate system of tips. They not only make trips to New York unnecessarily expensive to themselves, but by acting like temporary millionaires they make life burdensome to the local residents. Real New Yorkers do not throw their money away like that.

A BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION.

Herbert Hoover has made a preliminary report upon the Ameri- ing. can relief administration. He says that it will return to the United States government approximately $88,750,000 of the $100,-000,000 appropriated by congress for relief in Europe. This will be returned in the form of treasury notes from the European governments that shared in the relief work. The remainder of the fund, or about one-eighth of it, was expended, he says, for "supplies which were donated on a charitable basis, for which there the East End district. The stork has will be no reimbursement." All relief supplies were purchased in visited the homes of Frank Finney, the United States and the only moneys expended outside were for and Harvey Koenig, both of Railroad local freight and handling charges in Europe.

Poland received more than half of the money spent-$57,000,-000. Armenia came next with $10,000,000. Other countries which shared were Czecho-Slovakia, Russia, Esthonia, Lettvia, Lith-rania and Finland.

A "business administration" is always being promised some hopeful city or state by the candidate who realizes the deep-down longing of every decent citizen to have the affairs of his communlty conducted with the sanity, competence and thrift which accompany a successful business. Here, all quietly and modestly, with no tooting of horns, with no glittering promises whose gold proves but tinsel when put to the test, comes the successful concluder of the greatest "business administration" on record.

The marvelous high character of the Patience Worth literature, coming rapidly as it does, staggers the intelect. The whole thing may be a fake, I do not profess to know. But I do not think it is. From some strange source Mrs. Curran receives these lit-

This seems to be the day of the young novelist. Nearly all of the best ellers are being written at present by writers who are in the twenties. "Peter the Brazen" was written by George Wortz, who is just 29. It is having a big sale and New York reviewers are rhapsodizing about it daventure despite his years. His story concerns some personal adventures he had with Chinese pirates while roving about as a wireless operator. 'Free Air" was written by Sinclair Lewis-known to his intimates as "Red" Lewis of Stark Center, Wis .publishers' blurbs, were written by writers not yet 30 years of age.

There is being exhibited in New York a blouse of which the price is $3,800. It is constructed of what holes and as a Xmas gift I would much prefer a well constructed dog ost $40,000. And on the avenue there are many hats tagged $400 and $500.

Taxi drivers in the metropolis are the appearance of limousines on the streets. They will jockey the big street the other day. A liveried chauffeur and footman were on the front seat of a huge town car. The taxi driver tried to wedge past them but the liveried boys with stony faces igand the taxi brigand cut across in front, sideswiped the big car, ripping ousine occupants.

D. W. GRIFFITHS' LATEST MASTERPIECE COMING TO THE AMERICAN

GRIFFITH SENT BARTHELMESS TO CHINA

The one important thing in casting the part of the Chinese poet, Chang Huan, in "Broken ing to the American Theatre, was, according to D. W. Griffith to secure a player whose facial expression would emphasize as fully a spossible that line of Thomas Burke's in "Limehouse Nights," his love was a pure and holy thing. Even his worst ene chanced that, looking around for the right player, Mr. Griffith heard that Richard Barthelmess was, for the time being, at liberty to accept the difficult en-get thoroughly into the atmosphere of the part, Mr. Griffith sent him from San Francisco to Shanghai, where he steeped him self in the color and beauty, of the Orient. There, learning of the wonderfully kindly attitude of the Chinese toward children, he became imbued with the spirit that enables him in "Broken Blossoms" to convey the ideal love which the Chinese poet feels for the poor little bruised and broken English gfrl. It is a love without a single thought or note of selfishness in it; a love of pity and human sympathy that makes those who see and realize it come away from the picture with a more tender and gentle feeling toward their kind. Old Age Deferred

"A woman is as old as she looks, and a man is as old as he feels." is a familiar saying that is full of meaning nowadays. BUY MONEY.

Since this is a period of frenzied spending, why not buy some money along with other things? There are great bargains in the money market.

You can buy lately, for about $3.80, a British pound which ordinarily is worth $4.86. French francs are marked down to 10 tents or less, from their normal value of nearly 20 cents. You can ret Italian lire, normally about the same as francs, for 8 cents. ters. German marks, formerly equal to an American quarter, are down to 2 or 3 cents.

You will be taking a chance, to be sure. This foreign currency may go still lower, if there is a real financial collapse abroad. On the other hand, it may go back to par within a few years.

If you want a perfectly sure thing along this line, buy American money. Do a little plunging in dollar "futures." Take whatever money you have lying around loose and put it into government bonds-which are absurdly cheap just now-or else put it In the bank. The bonds will go above par before long. The money in the bank will not go above par; you will get back exactly the same number of dollars you put in, plus the interest; but-

If you leave those dollars either in the bank or in the bonds for two or three or four years, you will be surprised at what you 132 trade them for when you finally draw them out. They won't bay much now; but prices are at their peak, and are certain to go down as the United States pays its war debt and speeds up production once more. For the cheap dollars you invested, you will ret back dollars of far more value.

IMPORTED LUXURIES.

In September, 1918, the duty collected in the New York custom house on dressed furs, was $8,030. In September, 1919, the duty collected on dressed furs was $517,532. In September of last year 'Peter the Brazen' was written by Imported beads paid a duty of $145,544; in September of this year, $952,630. For ostrich feathers the figures are—last September, $77,373; this September, $410,801. For pearls—last September, Wortz has lived a life teeming with $123,547; this September, $654,312. For cut diamonds—last September, $494,221; this September, $6,644,774. Silk veilings—last Beptember, $82,398; this September, $372,048. So it goes, through ing about as a wireless operator. a long list of articles classed as "luxuries."

Some of these increases represent a natural response to a demand which foreign dealers could not supply last year on account and Mr. Lewis has just turned 30. Ten of the war. But most of it is due to the sudden craze for luxuries other successful novels, according to in this country. The figures would be still more impressive if they were obtainable for October and November. The demand has been growing right along, in spite of high prices, industrial troubles and everything else.

It may be argued that people with money have a right to spend they call rose point. It is all full of it for whatever they like. Perhaps they have. Still, the situation today is at least unfortunate. Increased imports are highly collar. Still I saw a fur coat pointed desirable; but the imports most needed are standard commodities out to me in the Majestic foyer that to supplement our own domestic store—not costly things that the nation could easily do without. And indirectly all the expenditure for luxuries is bad in many ways. Weak souls everywhere are Taxi drivers in the metropolis are tempted beyond their means. It sets false standards of life, false a scrappy lot. They seem to resent standards of prices, false standards of goods.

When people are so ready to pay big money for unnecessary cars out of line, block them and if things, what wonder is it that prices on ordinary commodities are necessary rip off a mud guard. I saw jacked up? Foolish purchasers come to prefer the flimsy or mere- break into the heavy evening traffic ly elegant to the substantial, and manufacturers are no longer giv- on Sixth Avenue near Firty Second en the proper incentive to produce honest goods.

NEW YORK TIPS.

A man from the West complains, in a letter to a New York nored him. Finally there was a chance paper, that it cost him $4 in tips and excess charges merely to and the taxi brigand cut across in "arrive" in the metropolis. He includes in his itemized list tips off the mud guard and smashing a Pullman porter, the station porter, the taxi-driver, the hotel front light. Then he turned up a doorman, captain, bellhop, porter, waiter, headwaiter, hat girl, side street, stuck his head out the manicure girl, barber shop porter and barber.

It does not seem to occur to this complainant that the only reason men like him have to pay such charges is that they "fall for" them, and even insist on paying them. Would this sojourner not have got all the services he indicates, just the same, if he had kept three-fourths of that $4 in his own pocket?

There is a good deal in the contention of the New York World that it is such visitors who establish and maintain the extortionate system of tips. They not only make trips to New York unnecessarily expensive to themselves, but by acting like temporary millionaires they make life burdensome to the local residents. Real New Yorkers do not throw their money away like that.

A BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION.

Herbert Hoover has made a preliminary report upon the Ameri- ing. can relief administration. He says that it will return to the United States government approximately $88,750,000 of the $100,-000,000 appropriated by congress for relief in Europe. This will be returned in the form of treasury notes from the European governments that shared in the relief work. The remainder of the corner of John and Chestnut street. fund, or about one-eighth of it, was expended, he says, for "supplies which were donated on a charitable basis, for which there the East End district. The stork has will be no reimbursement." All relief supplies were purchased in visited the homes of Frank Finney, the United States and the only moneys expended outside were for st. George street; Joseph Winters and Harvey Koenig, both of Railroad local freight and handling charges in Europe.

Poland received more than half of the money spent-$57,000,-000. Armenia came next with $10,000,000. Other countries which shared were Czecho-Slovakia, Russia, Esthonia, Lettvia, Lithrania and Finland.

A "business administration" is always being promised some hopeful city or state by the candidate who realizes the deep-down longing of every decent citizen to have the affairs of his communlty conducted with the sanity, competence and thrift which accompany a successful business. Here, all quietly and modestly, with no tooting of horns, with no glittering promises whose gold proves but tinsel when put to the test, comes the successful concluder of the greatest "business administration" on record.

Old Age Deferred

"A woman is as old as she looks, and a man is as old as he feels," is a familiar saying that is full of meaninig nowadays. Women of all ages dress young, and men are active as long as strength and vitality will permit: but when vitality gets low and elderly people lack energy there is nothing that will increase the appetite, promote sleep, vim and vitality so surely and quickly as Vinol, the cod liver and fron tonic without oil-in fact, most

City Physician Says Ordinary Nuxated from Will Increase the Strength of Nervous, Eun-down People in Two Weeks' Time in Many Cases.

Nervous, Run-down People in Two Weeks' Time in Many Cases.

One people have iron in their blood. They are the ones that do and dare. The others are in the weaking class. Sleepless nights spent worrying over supposed ailments, constant dosing with habit forming drugs and narcotics, and uscless attempts to brace up with strong coffee or other stimulants are what keep them suffering and vainly longing to be strong. Their real trouble is lack of iron in the blood. Without iron the blood has no power to change food into living tissue and, therefore, nothing you eat does you good; you don't get the strength out of it. When iron is supplied it enriches the impoverished blood and gives the body greater resistance to ward off disease.
Numbers of nervous, run-down people who were ailing all the while have most astonishingly increased their strength and endurance simply by taking iron in the proper form. And this, after they had in some cases been going on for months without getting lenefit from anything.

If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary nuxated iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained.
There is nothing like good old iron to help put color in your cheeks and sound, healthy flesh on your bones. But you must take iron in a form that can be easily absorbed and assimilated like nuxated iron if you want it to do you any good, otherwise it may prove worse than uscless.

11 HENS IDLE; NOW LAY 221 EGGS A MONTH

Mrs. Young Almost Gave Up Raising Chickens. Then She Tried this Plan.

"When I accepted your offer and tried Don Sung, I had been getting I or 2 eggs every other day. The next month, using 50 cents worth of Don Sung, my 11 hens laid 221 eggs. I almost gave up raising chickens, but now I have decided to raise as many as I can."—Mrs. F. C. Young, Bellefonte, Pa. Feed is too expensive to waste on idle hens. You can easily start your hens laying and keep them laying even in coldest winter. To prove it, all you need do is accept our offer, as Mrs. Young did.

Young did.

Give your hens Don Sung and watch results for one month. If you don't find that it pays for itself and pays you a good profit besides, tell us and your money will be promptly refunded.

Don Sung (Chinese for egg-laying) works directly on the egg-laying organs, and is also a splendid tonic. It is easily given in the feed, improves the hen's health, makes her more active in any weather, and starts her laying.

Try Don Sung for 30 days and if it doesn't get you the eggs, no matter how cold or wet the weather, your money will be refunded by return mail. Get Don Sung from your druggist or poultry remedy dealer or send 50 cents for a package by mail prepaid. Burrell-Dugger Co., 284 Columbia Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind.

Ask a former dyspeptic who tried the Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets plan what wonderful relief they afford. Instead of the grouchy bowl of soup at home and the abject terror at the sight of good things to eat at a party supper, the soup spoon has been re blaced by the knife and fork. This comes from giving the digestive processes required assistance. These tablets digest food. They stimulate natural digestive secretions. Thus the food keeps on digesting, doesn't lie in the stomach to sour and create all sorts of distresses. And they act as soon as its Tuesday showing at the Ceramic they enter the stomach, hence relief even in dyspepsia may be looked for almost at once

If you have been troubled with gassiness, sour stomach, water brash or heaviness after eating and such troubles, try these tablets. You will find Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets on sale in gram is rounded out with a beautifui any drug store in the United States Stella Talbot, who appears in the Miss Razhel Littleton, Who Is to Be the Bride of Young Vanderbilt.

By Barbara Craydon

HIS is the unvarnished story of the 22-yearold heir to the Vanderbilt millions who chose the "City Room" of a New York newspaper in preference to the blase atmosphere of Newport society, including its be-pearled dowagers and their marriageable daughters.

Cornelius Junior-he is the only son of Brig.-Gen and Mrs. Corenlius Vanderbilt-broke tho traditional chains of socially walled-in Newport when he decided, against the wishes of his family, to go to work like any other red-blooded American. Why he chose to exile himself from the ex-¿usive circle of New York's 400 may be summed up in a few brief sentences.

He hates the atmosphere of upper stratum of society into which he was born and in which he was nurtured. He has had an insensate longing to escape from the ever-present Newport mammas with their daughters of marriageable age. He has had an unquenchable amortion to become a literary light, if not ultimately to own or control a metropolitan newspaper.

And pure remance enters into the story in the person of Miss Rachel Littleton, the remarkably pretty sister of one of New York's most successful lawyers, whose engagement to young Vanderbilt was announced recently, though prematurely, in the newspapers. But this is getting ahead of the story.

Mobbed by Mammas

Coming down to brass tacks, young Vanderbilt was really "mothered" out of Newport by these cternally vigilant dowagers and their inseparable debutante girls. At every social function he was fairly mobbed by lorgnetted ladies and their fair young eligibles. Newport society is arctically frank with Newport society. Once surrounded by them every Newport cloud took on a matrimonial lining-to him, at least. He was confronted by the incongrucus fact that nobody loves a bachetor and everybody loves a bachelor. They were bound to clothe him in benedict splendor and it was getting on his nerves.

If he chose to make a social call on any of the fair debutantes the entire family, with mamma in the vanguard and the cook in the offing, swarmed in to get acquainted. If ne sat down on the same couch with the young woman there was unrestrained joy in the household and mamma began to plan for a Fifth avenue ceremony that would measure up to precedent as set by the Vander-

Sometimes mamma would suddenly enter the room unannounced in order to see for herself how far the embryo romance had progressed. Or anxious papa, with an eye on the Vanderbilt name for reasons best known to himself, would have a

The winters in Florida accentuated this willo'-the-wisp scramble for matrimonial honors. He was mothered and daughtered from city to city, from hotel to hotel. Whither he traveled they were on the hotel veranda to greet him. Often times they had rooms on the same floor as his. The Newport mammas were not alone in trailing him. There were competitors in the persons of southern and western mammas with pretty daughters. Once he met a prepossessing young southern woman with whom he conversed for 30 minutes on a Palm Beach hotel veranda. The day following he received a letter from her mak-

Sometimes he played pranks on the fair multitude. There is one instance where he and his chum drove up to a Florida hotel grimy and sooty as the result of repairing their car. Taken for chauffeurs they were given a room on the top floor with the servants. When their identity became known the manager apologized and offered Vanderbilt the best room in the hotel. He preferred the top floor, however, and remained there during his stay. For once he was immune from the prying eyes of the social-elect.

Meets "The Girl"

Up till the time that he met "the girl" young Vanderbilt had divided his time between his yacht and his automobile, only mixing in the Newport whirl when his mother-the recognized leader of society there-insisted that he appear. His knowledge of New York's Great White Way was practically nil-he had made this trip only once and in the company of his father. However, this did not prevent an obscure chorus girl, encouraged by a certain theatrical promoter, from attempting to capitalize his name over the breach-of-promise route. Of course, he was an innocent party to the attempted scandal.

A certain young man about town had been impersonating young Vanderbilt without his knowledge. The young actress, who knew him only as Vanderbilt, was in the habit of meeting him nightly and accompanying him to various restaurants along the Great White Way. With the connivance of the theatrical promoter she was about to institute a suit against young Vanderbilt for $100,000, alleging failure to keep a marriage promise. The papers were about to be served and everything was set for the campaign of publicity to follow which would raise her to the heights of footlight glory when Vanderbilt learned of the plot and nipped it in the bud. He appeared personally before the young woman who had to acknowledge that she had never met him.

After his return from overseas with New York's famous 27th division, in which he enlisted without his parents' consent, young Vanderbilt was tendered a dance in the big Fifth avenue mansion in honor of his 21st birthday. It was attended principally by members of the junior set of New York's 400. Among them was Miss Rachel Littleton, formerly of Tennessee, now of Plandome, Long Island, and New York city. She had attended pre-war affairs given by the Vanderbilts but had never met "Neily"-as he is known to his friends.

Beginning of the Romance

It is a peculiar fact, but nevertheless true, that in New York's 400 everybody is supposed to know everybody else. Introductions therefore are unnecessary to the point of being out of order. In consequence "Neily," loyal to his own clique, in another clique, though he knew her by sight. But "Neily" had gone forth to war a mere youngster and returned a man in so far as experience goes. The wisp of a girl he knew in pre-war times had matured into a young woman her in the dance and their eyes met. With the dance over "Neily" summoned his faithful chum and an introduction was arranged. One unwritten rule of the 400 went by the board. Papa Vanderbilt and Mamma Vanderbilt looked askance but said nothing.

"Neily" danced every dance with the beautiful Tennessee girl following their introduction. But he had to escort another to supper. So he instructed his chum to invite Miss Littleton to his table. The embryo romance soon ripened into young Vanderbilt's first love affair. Thereafter the Vanderbilt car could be seen almost daily at the Littleton summer home at Plandome, L. I., on the sound. If the car was absent Neily's yacht, the Comet, could be seen at anchor in the road-

Newport grew farther and farther away in Cornelius, Junior's geographical perspective. The scion of the Vanderbilt millions transferred the social centre to Plandome, L. I. When he ventured with Miss Littleton to Newport the stately dowagers lifted their lorgnettes and whispered together-perhaps disapprovingly. The importunate dowagers ceased to trouble him more. The Newport daughters sighed pitifully. Then "Neily" started rumblings in the big Fifth avenue mansion. Family conferences had been called to decide as to his future. His father -the general-wanted him to go to Yale. He dissented. He told Pater Vanderbilt that if he would attend any university at all it would be the great university of the world. His one absorbing ambition was to get on a New York newspaper and learn the news-gathering "game" from its bottom up, he said. Conference succeeded conference without material results. The family was deadlocked over his future, until "Neily" decided it in his own characteristic fashion.

Becomes a Reporter

One afternoon last August he sauntered down to the office of a New York newspaper and sought an interview with the editor-in-chief.

"I am Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr.," he said in brief, "and I want a job as reporter." He was put to work as a "cub" in the city room at the "munificent" salary of $30 a week, "with a promise of a raise if he made good." The intrusion of a Vanderbilt in the city sanctum created no excitement among the members of the staff. They cast shy glances at the newcomer but the typewriters clicked on as usual.

Then Vanderbilt returned home to communicate the glad tidings to his father and mother, that, by his own efforts, he had acquired a real, extremely busy job. This was the most un-Vanderbilt thing he could have done, he was told, for the Vanderbilt family, together with other prominent New York families, is a pitiless hater of personal publicity. There was another conference which lasted till 4 the next morning, "Neily was promised a trip around the world, or a year's travel in Africa and other forms of parental per-suasiveness if he would forego the new job, but he would not. He told his mother and father that he was tired of all that superficial Newpo sense and didn't want to be "silverspoone longer. He wanted to get out in the world t show what he could do for himself. If the Vanderbilt millions stood in the way of his ambitio he would forego the Vanderbilt millions. The relented, trusting that this newspaper "fad would soon erase itself.

The day following we find C. V., Jr., bein tossed about in be-mired, be-goggled, be-smot tered New York as a fledgling protege of "His Mightiness" the City Editor. In the eternal chase other papers-men who know the "game" from cellar to roof.

"Hello-new man?" they say to him, not deigning to ask his name. Names don't count. anyway, in the New York reportorial world un less one is a recognized star man. "Have you a smoke?" and "What have you got" (in the way of news) constitute the proper introduction into the metropolitan newspaper craft. If you have the smoke and a few news fragments to boot the initiation will have become

Instead of writing delectable accounts cen-tering in and about Newport Vanderbilt put his literary helm hard over and squared on the opposite tack. As a recognized addition to the "fourth estate" he expressed ineffable contempt for anything savoring of high society in its relation to newsgathering. He preferred to explore the profundities of the East side or the restless rivers of humanity in Lower Broadway. Moreover, his "girl" was insistent that he become a real, not a quasi-reporter, "with all the hereditaments and appurtenances thereunto belonging."

Makes Good in His Job

He never used his name to carry him by the rough spots. Those from whom he sought new knew him only as a "reporter from the Herald." In consequence of this modesty he was not immune from those little trials and vicissitudes that go to make up the everyday life of the New York newspaper man. His "copy" was considered good by that old veteran, the C.E.-so good in fact that he was summoned before the managing editor one afternoon during September.

"Vanderbilt," he began, "you're doing good work. I want you to take the train out tonight for Canada to cover an exploration party into the Canadian Rockies. If you happen across the Prince of Wales up there wire us a story and don't bother about telegraph tolls in sending it

"Neily" broke all speed records between New York and Plandome, Long Island, to inform his "girl" of his first real assignment. She was overjoyed. He left that night for Banff, Canada, equipped for a month's journey into that almost inaccessible, inhospitable region of the Rockies to the southward of Banff. He was forced to forego this exploration trip, however, after a few days away from civilization owing to a recurring attack of sickness resulting from a gassing he received in the front line in France. But the interview with the Prince of Wales was yet within range of possibility. He set out for Lake Louise, where the prince was stopping, to "cover" him. There, dressed in hunting togs, he met his royal highness and was the first newspaper man in the United States, if not in Canada as well, to obtain a personal interview with the heir to the British throne.

His Lips, Tongue and Throat Also In-Doctors ordered all His Teeth Pulled

This did no good but he declares after 7 doses of Dreco the sores began to heal and now there's not a sign of

"One month ago I know I was a horrible sight with these canker sores on my lips, in my mouth and throat and on my tongue, but today I havn't a sign of one anywhere", are the words of Mr.

Harry Lambert of New Lebanon, O. Mr. Lambert is a bible student and devout member of the New Born Church. "I had used many mouth washes for six months and didn't get any better, finally my doctor had me go to my dentist and pull all my teeth out, but that didn't help any. I bought a bottle of Dreco and when I had taken only 7 doses, the sores began to heal. I kept on taking Dreco and every day I could see improvement. My bowels began to act regular. My stomach seemed to be strengthened and my food digested better, giving off no gas, nor any pain, I could see that I was putting on flesh and feeling better all the time. "I have taken four bottles of Dreco and am as sound as a dollar today Have gained eight pounds; gotten rid of the sores; my bowels are regulated and I have a strong stomach again To say I am happy does not express it and my doctor is astonished at what Dreco did for me."

When the stomach gets out of order and the bowels become clogged, any number of things may happen, such as the above. Get your stomach in first class order by taking a few bottles of Dreco and see how your troubles will be overcome. All good druggists now sell Dreco and it is highly recommended in East Liverpool by Flick's Drug Store, Fifth and Market street.

School teachers in West Virginia under the school code as construed by Attorney General A. T. England, were required to teach one day in December in order to make out a full "20-day month" for November, there having been five Saturdays, five Sundays and the Thanksgiving holiday in November leaving only 19 school days.

"The new law provides that schools shall not be kept in operation for instruction on any Saturday or on certain enumerated holidays among which isThanksgiving Day," the attorney general explained, "and it is further provided that no teacher shall count any such holiday or other day set apart as a day taught, but shall teach 20 full days for each school month specified in her contract."

Orders Are the Proof

Imagination is one of the greatest powers in Business.

Foresight is another.

But orders are the proof of both.

The Ohio Motor Vehicle Company applied imagination to the creation of the Ferris auto-

It used foresight in determining the actual demand for the Ferris Six.

Today it has orders on hand for twice as many cars as it expected to produce during 1920.

Money is Made on Orders

We are not asking you to invest on our imagination or our foresight.

After eight years of experience in engineering, purchasing, building and selling in the automobile field, you expect us to have imagination and foresight correct, dependable, rational.

What the Ohio Motor Vehicle Company needs is money to build Ferris Motor Cars to fill orders from dealers that can't get enough cars to fill their orders-orders far in excess of our capacity to produce.

You are Ready to Invest

These are the days of high demand. A little money properly placed -properly placed will come back many fold if you act now.

Disregard this advertisement entirely as a persuasion, but look the Motor Car Business square in the face. Look at the opportunities that stand before the stockholders of a company that is as well situated for business as any of the old profit makers a company that has a fully equipped plant, a trained organization, a definite credit in the automobile field, parts on the ground and more coming, and orders booked for more cars than the existing factory can produce in a year.

Do Your Own Investigating

See our plant. Visit our offices. Look up the record of The Ohio Trailer Co. Examine the plans for the Ferris Six. See the car at the New York and Chicago Shows, and decide for yourself.

SPORTING GOSSIP

Coghill, Australian heavy champ, who was stopped by Fulton in London has an excuse for his defeat. A British critic says:

While one must admire the truly sporting spirit of Coghill, which insiced him to come forward to give Fulton a match, one must depreciate the practice of any one who is not perfectly sound physically engaging in

"No doubt most of those who saw Coghill in the ring thought what a fine figure of a man he looked—which he certainly did. But I wonder how many were aware of the fact that Coghill was fighting with a jaw which had been shattered in war and which by marvellous surgical skill was mended and made to perform its functions by the aid of springs.

"This must have rendered him easily susceptible to a knockout. The fact must not be lost sight of that had anything serious happened as a result of this knockout Fulton would have been apprehended and held responsible for this. And we must guard against any possibility of such happenings with all our energy, otherwise the game will soon get into bad odor.

Christy Matthewson, telling the story of why the Reds took Walter Ruether off the hands of the Cubs, says he was picked largely because he impressed Matty as a hitter, even if there was doubt as to his pitching ability. The Cubs were playing in Cincinnati, had three men on bases and needed all three runs to tie the score, as Matty tells it, when Fred Mitchell sent Reuther in to bat. He walloped the ball into deep right center for a triple Matty marveled, for Ruether was supposed to be a pitcher. As a pitcher he had proved to be some hitter. Matty made inquiries as to his pitching ability and learned that among the Cubs he wasn't considered as much.

A few weeks later the Chicago club asked for waivers on Ruether. Remembering that three base hit, Matty claimed him for the Reds. He figured that whether or not Dutch could pitch he might be pretty handy to have

Despite the stories of German and Austrian poverty in the wake of the great war, racing is being carried on more fully than ever. Deutscher Sport of Berlin, in the issue of September 21, says that fifteen additional days racing were granted for October and early November, inclusive of five Berlin Karishort, two at Breslau, two at Madgeburg, and six at other places. As seventeen days had previously been arranged for, there will be racing practically every day in Germany next month.

"I am going to keep on fighting until the fight with Dempsey is arranged I am not going into 'set up' bouts or exhibition affairs. They'll be real fights with any heavyweight that wants to meet me."

Regarding his proposed fight with Dempsey, the French champion said: ace that offers me the most

It will be the hardest fight I ever had. It will cover a longer route and I am sure that I will not expose myself recklessly and allow him to get across an easy knockout blow.'

KEARNS HAS TAKEN NO OFFERS YET

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 10 .-We have had numerous offers of matches," said Jack Kearns, manager for Jack Dempsey, here today. "I have just received a cablegram from Decoin of Paris, asking for a fight there in the Pershing stadium, next June or July." "I haven't answered any of these offers yet, and probably will not be in any hurry. We will want more money for a fight abroad than we would for one in this country, and I am waiting to see here is before I make any answers to foreign promoters.' Kearns intimated that he and Dempsey would be here perhaps for which you expect to pay at least

The boys' suits have two pair of pants in Knickerbocker styles lined throughout-and as two pairs of trousers will outwear one coat, you will readily realize that this is a most economical proposition.

Overcoats and Mackinaws that are worth much more if values may be gauged by the prices demanded everywhere. And still higher price, of course, but these are extraordinary productions for which you will not begrudge the price.

A Wide Margin of Safety

MAN about to hire a chauf-A feur asked each applicant how near he could drive to the edge of a precipice.

One said a foot, another said six inches, a third said two inches. But the fourth said, "I keep just as far away from a precipice as I can." He was hired.

The wise property owner, like the careful chauffeur, prefers a wide margin of safety. He insures his possessions to the limit and then takes every precaution against fire. Insurance only reduces your fire loss. That is why the Fire Prevention Service of the Hartford Fire Insurance Company is as necessary as insurance. Let us explain this service. It is free to all Hartford policy holders.
